Event Background

In recent years, society has been reshaped by the accelerating digital shift, and company's "meaning of existence within society" are being questioned. It is time for companies to reexamine meaning of existence and reborn, to see if they are truly bringing about DX and business transformation.

One of the methods for achieving highly added value in business is in-house AI that incorporates AI into the business of a company, and recent focus has been on how to cultivate the digital/AI human resources required to achieve this.

We recommend this conference to those who want to grow their business with AI, those who want to pursue in-house AI, and those who want to work on digital/AI human resource development but are unsure where to start. We hope that you will join the conference and gain useful knowledge on achieving true DX/business reform.
